JSSA's therapists, geriatric case managers, psychologists and psychiatrists help seniors struggling with a variety of difficult life challenges and situations such as the loss of a loved one, grief, anxiety, family concerns, depression, health problems, dementia, the stresses of caring for an ill loved one, making difficult decisions, retirement or moving issues.

Ongoing assessment and treatment through a full range of therapeutic options including cognitive behavior therapy; psychodynamic psychotherapy; individual, family and group therapy and other evidence-based approaches. JSSA provides both brief and longer term intervention to achieve symptom relief and improved functioning at home, at work and in the community.
