VCU Center for Sleep Medicine has professionals who are dedicated to offering top-quality diagnosis and treatment for a variety of sleep disorders, while at the same time maintaining a spirit of partnership with each patient's own physician. It's only by carefully cultivating this cooperative climate that a referral-based facility like ours can find success- for our referring physicians as well as our patients.

Common sleep problems that are treated include restless leg syndrome; narcolepsy; sleep apnea; insomnia; nightmares; sleep walking and talking; sleep deprivation; circadian rhythm sleep disorders and drowsy driving.
