The Indian River Park is a 91-acre park, which contains a natural 70-acre area, is located between Paramount and Rokeby Avenues. It stretches south from Providence Road to the Virginia Beach city line. The park consists of large mature hardwood and pines, baseball field, play area and girl's club. A small creek winds the entire length of the property and has space for a get-away when you don't have the time to get away. The park offers a nearby place to discover adventures on the trails- either walking, hiking or biking. For those who like extreme adventures it has a series of trails and jumps for bikes and the BMX communities.
