The Domestic Violence Service Center works with all adult victims (both men and women) of domestic violence who want to develop healthier, more positive lifestyles for themselves and their children.

IF YOU ARE BEING THREATENED OR HAVE BEEN ASSAULTED, CALL 911. PLEASE, DO NOT DELAY.

Our program assists with:

- Crisis intervention
- Outreach counseling
- Case management
- Court advocacy and accompaniment
- Emergency and transitional housing
- Legal assistance
- Financial assistance for victims in a crisis situation
- Support groups for past and present victims of domestic violence

It is important to remember that abuse can occur to both men and women. Thousands of men, women and children live in constant fear and pain as a result of family violence. Abuse can be physical, ranging from shoving, slapping, punching and stabbing, as well as financial or psychological, including threats and other verbal abuse.

You do not have to be physically battered to be considered a victim of abuse. Abuse is any behavior that is used to intimidate or control another person. For further information on abusive behavior, please visit: www.helpguide.org and click on the topic of abuse. Also, please visit: www.vsdvalliance.org.
