This initiative promotes bicycling as an option for commuting to work. Bicycling is beneficial for employees and employers; commuters who cycle to work require fewer sick days and enjoy overall better health. Bicycling employees are often more productive, less stressed, and do not require daily parking, which reduces the amount employers invest in parking facilities. In addition, biking instead of driving reduces pollution and improves air quality.

Many cities, towns, and counties across the state hold Bike to Work events in May, including Northern Virginia, Harrisonburg, Loudoun County, Portsmouth, Roanoke, and Staunton. Visit BiketoWorkVA.org for more information on bicycling to work, statewide initiatives celebrating Bike to Work Week, and for a calendar of upcoming bicycling events.
